HARVARD MUSEUMS OF SCIENCE & CULTURE

I Science

Saturday, February 8, 10:00 am–4:00 pm

Awaken your love of science with activities led by Harvard scientists, graduate students, and enthusiastic explorers. Meet scientists who investigate fossils, microbes, and carnivorous plants. Hear short talks on current research at Harvard. Explore fermenting microbes in action as they perform in a musical art installation! Bring your own collections to show to local shell and mineral clubs. This program has something for everyone and is appropriate for children and adults of all ages.
