Nutrition Tips for Healthy Living! DECEMBER 2025 Winter Wellness Nutrition Tips

Winter Wellness Nutrition Tips

This time of the year brings challenges to eating and keeping well, for example with the cold winter weather, access to food, cold and flu season, and financial hardships. These obstacles can make it harder to eat healthier, have access to food, and maintain a strong immune system.

Meal Heating Instructions

Do NOT use the toaster oven to reheat home delivered meals.

Keep meals in the refrigerator until ready to eat.

Do not leave out in room temperature for more than 2 hours.

Consume or discard a refrigerated meal within 48/hrs.

Conventional Oven – Set oven at 350F. Place meal on cookie sheet, bake for 15-20 minutes maximum.

Microwave - Peel back plastic film to vent steam, reheat for 2 to 3 minutes. Stir for even cooking. Microwave oven times will vary.

Reheat meals until they reach an internal temperature of 165F.

Menu Nutrition Guidelines:

Meals provide one-third the daily recommended intake for older adults.

- Regular diet, no added salt (NAS).
- Calories range from 700-800 calories/meal.
- Total fat no more than 30%/Cals.
- Average sodium per meal 700-900mg for whole meal including side components.
- Entrée over 500mg sodium marked with asterisk (*).
- Sodium totals include milk (105mg), margarine (30mg).

Here are some tips to help support health during the winter months and all year round:

- Plan balanced meals to include 3-4 food groups, such as protein, vegetables, grain, and fruit, this will provide a variety of nutrients your body needs.
- Fill half your plate with vegetables or vegetable-based soups that can be nutritious, filling, and hydrating.
- Frozen vegetables are a great choice, especially in the winter with less seasonal options and prices increase.
- Seasonal winter fruits to try, pomegranates, cranberries, citrus fruits, grapes, which are also rich in vitamin C to help boost immune system.
- Enjoy whole grains and "high quality" carbohydrates like sweet potatoes, yams, pumpkin, butternut squash, and yucca!
- If eating extra calories because of boredom, try waiting 10-20 minutes for the craving to pass, or having a glass of water. Sometimes hunger can be a sigh of thirst, especially if meals are just recently consumed.
- Consider calorie intake from beverages, these count too, such as juice, soda, high calorie coffee drinks and lattes. These offer empty calories, and very little nutrients. Try seltzer water, water with lemon wedges, or a just splash of juice, or green tea.
- Keeping physically active, even if indoors walking the halls, or around the house, if able too, is important to support a healthy immune system.
- Nothing like a hearty bowl of soup to warm you up these winter months. You can be as creative as you like with soups, add items you have available that need to be used up, fresh, or frozen vegetables, beans, leftover chicken, low sodium soup base, and seasonings.
